SELF-CARE

- ❖ Headspace - Meditation and sleep app; they are offering all US healthcare professionals who work in public health settings free access to Headspace Plus through 2020.

- ❖ The Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare: Caring for Yourself & Others During the COVID-19 Pandemic: Managing Healthcare Workers' Stress

- ❖ Take care of yourself - put on your oxygen mask first
(excerpted from AMA - Managing mental health during COVID19)
 - 1. Feel free to feel your feelings
 - Experiencing stress and the feelings associated with it are by no means a sign of weakness or a reflection on your ability to do your job.

 - 2. Intentionally employ coping strategies
 - Get enough rest and find respite time during work or between shifts, eat meals (ideally, healthy food, on a schedule), engage in physical activity and stay in contact (with appropriate social distancing) with family and friends.

 - 3. Perform regular check-ins with yourself
 - Monitor yourself for symptoms of depression/stress disorder. Talk to a trusted colleague or supervisor. Be open to seeking professional help if symptoms persist or worsen over time.

4. Take breaks from the news and social media

- Make a regular habit of stepping away from your computer and smartphone from time to time. When returning online, focus on information from reputable sources, not just sources in your social media feed. You don't have to take in everything produced by a 24/7 news cycle.

5. Be fortified by remembering the importance and meaning of your work

- Remind yourself that despite the current challenges and frustrations, yours is a noble calling – taking care of those in need in a time of great uncertainty. Make sure to take time to recognize the efforts and sacrifices made by your colleagues.

Together, we are all stronger.
